Spencer Named Official of Red River Asso.

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A resolution survey of the Red River and its tributaries was asked yesterday by the Red River Valley Committee of the Red River Valley Assn.

Another resolution called for a study of the proposed Dorechal Bayou Dam with the view of providing more flood control and additional municipal water supply for southern Arkansas and northern Louisiana.

The survey report, submitted to the first business session of the association's annual convention, asked $400,000 this year to finance the survey by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Emphasis was placed on the need for a survey of the Red River in the area north of Denison Dam.

The survey would determine what steps to take to eliminate natural pollution that makes the stream unfit for municipal industrial use and what controls could be placed on man-made pollution.

C.A. Fairbanks of Pineville, La., was re-elected president of the association. Lloyd Spencer of Hope, Ark., and John McWilliams Ford of Shreveport were named executive vice presidents for their states.

About 1,200 delegates from Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas are attending the convention.

Other officers re-elected were L. Roy Matthews of Shreveport, executive vice president; Robert McJeter Sr., Shreveport, treasurer; E. B. Germany of Dallas, executive vice president for Texas; and Harold P. Norris of Broken Bow, Okla., executive state vice president for Oklahoma.

Three Louisiana Democrats, Reps. A. Thompson, Edwin Willis and James Morrison, spoke yesterday. They will criticize the Federal Budget Bureau for cutting appropriations for public works. They accused the bureau of usurping congressional power and said congress should stop such action.

Chimpunk, Witch Doctor Good Business

LOS ANGELES (AP) — David Seville is a fellow who has done pretty well in the chimpunk and witch doctor business.

In the year which ended Monday, Seville—real name Ross B. Seville—figures he has sold $65,700,000 in novelty records and t-shirts.

The chimpunks who helped him are named Alvin, Theodore and Simon. They are, of course, the singing chimpunks on the records "Chimpunk Song" and "Alvin's Harmonica."

The witch doctor? That was the title of the song which launched Seville's big-time career.

Seville cashed in on commercial tie-ins with the chimpunks, whose pictures appear on wallpaper, T-shirts, and cookies.

He saved money by not having to hire singers. Seville himself is the chimpunks. A tape recorder enables him to achieve the strange sound attributed to Alvin and his pals.

U. S. to Send Missiles Into Italy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department confirmed today that the United States has agreed to deliver medium range missiles to Italy to bolster Atlantic Pact defenses.

The agreement tends to heighten the importance of the NATO strategy conference opening here Thursday. Foreign members of the 15 member nations already were gathering in Washington for preliminary talks.

Nuclear warheads for the missiles will be made available, but will remain in U.S. custody and control.

The department declined to disclose the type of missiles involved or the sites. Informed diplomatic authorities said, however, they will include the Army's Jupiter missile and will be stationed near Venice in northern Italy.

VIOLATES 'NO WAR' CONSTITUTION — Judge Akio Date has ruled in Tokyo, Japan, that the presence of American troops in Japan violates the country's U.S.-fostered 'no war' constitution. Judge Date dismissed charges against seven leftist rioters in the Tokyo District Court after saying the U.S.-Japanese Security Treaty which calls for the stationing of American forces in Japan as unconstitutional. — NEA-Telephoto

Navy Takes First Photos of the Sun

By VERN AUCLAND
WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy scientists have taken the first detailed photographs of the entire sun from above the earth's atmosphere in the sun's fundamental hydrogen wavelength.

A historic event in terms of study of the sun, said Hugh Odishaw of the U. S. Committee for the International Geophysical Year at a news conference today.

About 60 pictures were taken in less than a minute with a 35 pound spectrographic camera in the nose of an Altimorphic research rocket 123 miles above the White Sands, N. M., proving grounds March 13.

They showed large, whitish spots, identified by ascending columns of very hot turbulent hydrogen gas as much as 1,000 miles high and 1,000 miles across. And there was a darker back ground of cooler hydrogen clouds.

Mysterious dark filaments, or lines appeared, including two parallel ones at about the latitude of a southern polar region.

On the left, just below its mid section, the sun's atmosphere had a huge, possible solar flare and a high speed solar wind for the first time in a photograph at this wavelength.

"This is not what we expected to get, but what we dreamed of," was the comment made on the pictures by Dr. Richard Tourey, head of the rocket spectroscopy branch of the Naval Research Laboratory.

The photos were taken of the hydrogen wavelength, the extreme ultraviolet region midway between the kind of light visible to the human eye and that of X-rays.

Taken in this region, Tourey said, the photos "for the first time show solar activity in a wave length that exerts profound communications."

Governor Is Recruited for Blood Bank

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus was recruited today as a member of the Arkansas Heart Assn.'s "Walking Blood Bank."

The recruiter was an eight-year-old boy who underwent surgery for a rare heart operation at the University Medical Center last year. Blood donated by members of the "walking bank" is to be used for heart operations only.

Faubus signed a pledge card presented by the child, Sam Gammell Jr., of Hope.

When young Gammell entered the Medical center in mid 1958, no operations of the kind he required were being performed in Arkansas and physicians advised his parents to take him to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Two weeks later the boy's father died of a heart attack. Mrs. Gammell could not afford to take her son to the Mayo Clinic and when a number of medical center physicians formed a special heart surgery team late in 1958 she decided he would undergo surgery here. After the operation, she said, the child's recovery was "remarkable."

The Heart Assn. seeks to enroll 2,000 donors for the "walking bank." They will provide blood for use in at least one operation a week at the medical center.

Nehru Visions 'Ultimate' Win for Tibet

By R. SATAKOPAN
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru was quoted today as saying he would do his best to stop the fighting in Tibet.

Silun Lunkhangwa, a former member of the Dalai Lama's Tibetan government, headed a delegation which saw the Indian leader.

Lunkhangwa told a news conference the Tibetans had asked Nehru to use his good offices to arrange a cease-fire in Tibet's rebellion against the Chinese Communists and to seek restoration of Tibet's autonomy through negotiations between Tibet and Red China.

He quoted Nehru as replying: "The people of India are extremely distressed at Tibetan developments, and I shall do my best through diplomatic channels to stop the fighting."

Earlier, in speaking from the steps of his house to the delegation seated on the grass in his garden, Nehru advised the Tibetans to use wisdom and patience and "ultimate victory will be theirs."

Teachers on Strike Picket at Gary, Ind.

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Striking school teachers picketed the seven schools of the Calumet Township Metropolitan School District this morning, urging arriving students to go back home and challenging parents who brought their youngsters. Reduced classes were assembled anyway.

Rudy Dilrich, principal of DePaul Grade School, said the teachers' pickets demanded of parents: "are you union?"

And if the reply was yes, pickets said, "Well, take them back home."

Dilrich said the strikers, members of Local 682 of the American Federation of Teachers, also were telling children there is no school.

About 5,000 students are in the schools affected. Calumet Township senior and junior high schools are included.

The union struck after the Metropolitan School Board, formed last year in the township outside Gary and Griffith, announced it no longer would consider the federalization bargaining agent for the teachers.

Dilrich said 10 of his 16 teachers were out but classes were being conducted for 130 students who showed up, out of 340 scheduled to return this morning after the Easter holiday. Two hundred others were due at noon under the school's staggered schedule.

Christine Has License Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — Christine Jorgensen's efforts to obtain a marriage license have been delayed by a technicality, not connected with the fact that she changed her sex.

The delay came Monday when the would-be bridegroom, Howard J. Knick, 35, a Waukegan, Ill., statistician, couldn't produce a copy of an Illinois divorce decree that ended a previous marriage.

As for Miss Jorgensen's sex, which was changed from male to female by surgery in Denmark in 1950, a physician certifies that she is a woman and should be sufficient, said City Clerk Herman Kintz.

Miss Jorgensen, a former actress, gave her age as 33 and listed her occupation as an entertainer.

Violent Storm Lashes Along Atlantic Coast

NEW YORK (AP) — A violent spring storm raged unabated over a vast area of the Atlantic today, pummeling even the biggest liners. Sailing schedules were drastically slowed.

The tempest was marked by gigantic waves and winds as high as 100 miles an hour.

Seas were on such a rampage along the American Eastern seaboard that an Argentine liner, the Rio Uruguay, had to return to New York Monday after having sailed Friday on a voyage to South America.

A passenger said it was "a horrible 48 hours" before the vessel turned back. Furniture and woodwork was damaged in about 10 per cent of the vessel's cabins; 100 of the 30 passengers were injured, although none seriously and nearly all were seasick.

Capt. Jose Maria Dodero said that at one point his vessel rolled 80 degrees, just a few less than the capsizing point.

From across the Atlantic, the British liner Queen Mary reported upon docking at Southampton that she had been hit by one wave of tremendous proportions.

Despite underwater stabilizing fins the huge vessel rolled 22 degrees in one direction and then 10 the other. Passengers and crew alike were thrown about in several rocking-outboard buses.

The Queen Mary's sister ship, the Queen Elizabeth, was more than 12 hours behind schedule en route to New York.

The American and Canadian lines of the American Export Lines were slowed as much as 24 hours in westward Atlantic crossings.

The Constitution was scheduled Monday but finally pulled in today. Her skipper, Capt. Hugh L. Switzer, said that during a 24-hour period Saturday and Sunday he had to reduce speed from the normal 32 knots to 14.

Four crewmen of the 10,100-ton German liner Berlin were injured yesterday Saturday while repelling a look down a storm in the Atlantic; the North German Lloyd Line announced today at Bremen All four were downed.

The line said the Berlin was forced to leave for 24 hours 700 miles northeast of the Azores because of raging seas.

A spokesman said the ship and its 500 passengers were in no danger. The Berlin proceeded on its voyage to New York and is expected to arrive there on schedule next Saturday.

New 'Landmark' Decision by Supreme Court

By PAUL M. YOST
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court in a landmark decision has cleared the way for states to try persons on charges similar to those on which they have been freed in federal trials.

The decision, by a one-judge majority, was explained in a 17-page opinion announced yesterday by Justice Felix Frankfurter.

Justice Hugo L. Black protested there would be "violations of due double prosecutions" who often will be those "without friends in high places." Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice William O. Douglas joined in Black's dissenting opinion.

Another dissenting opinion by Justice William J. Brennan Jr. also was approved by Warren and Douglas.

It was the first time the Supreme Court has ever specifically ruled that a federal prosecution is no bar to a state prosecution for the same crime. However, in several decisions since 1922 the Court has upheld the federal government's right to prosecute persons after they had been prosecuted in state courts.

Yesterday's decision upheld the state court conviction of Alfonso Barbus of Chicago in connection with the 1953 robbery of a savings and loan association in Cicero, Ill.

Barbus first was tried in federal court. He was acquitted. Then he was indicted and brought to trial in a state criminal court in Chicago. Convicted, he then got a life sentence as a habitual criminal.

Frankfurter's majority opinion rejected a contention of counsel for Barbus that the second trial in state court violated the U. S. Constitution's 14th Amendment guarantee of due process of law.

While Frankfurter based his opinion on this legal point, Black, Warren and Douglas said the two trials violated the Fifth Amendment's guarantee against double jeopardy.

Brennan dissented on a different legal basis. He said the state trial amounted to "the second federal prosecution of Barbus." He stated that federal authorities are unhappy over the federal court's acquittal and solicited the state indictment.

Another decision dealing with the question of double trials, the Court voted 8-3 in upholding federal prosecution after state court prosecution.

Shipwreck Might Have Been Avoided

NEW YORK (AP) — The captain of the Cargo liner Santa Rosa testified Monday that "in all probability" he could have avoided a collision with the tanker Vlachina by turning right, instead of left.

The international rules of the road, a navigational code, require that ships on a collision course turn to the right (starboard), so that they will pass port to port (left to left).

The tanker did turn right, according to testimony at the hearing.

The ships collided in fog about 22 miles off Atlantic City, N. J., last Thursday morning. A gash was ripped in the liner's bow. The engine room of the tanker was hit, causing the death of four of the 39 crewmen aboard.

Liner Captain Frank S. Swick told the Coast Guard investigating board that when it became apparent the two ships would pass close together he relied on speed to avoid collision.

After the 50-year-old captain told of ordering a left turn three minutes before the crash, he was asked:

"Instead of going left at approximately 2:57 a.m. had you gone right would you have avoided a collision?"

"In all probability," he replied.

Capt. Louis Murphy of the Vlachina testified briefly. He said he had been resting in his cabin when he heard the liner's whistle. He said he rushed to the bridge, arriving seconds before the collision, but too late to do anything. He said "I actually never saw the Santa Rosa prior to the impact."

Virginia to Start New Legal Tactics

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia's General Assembly begins consideration today of new legal lines of defense against the spread of racial integration in public schools.

It appeared the program the Assembly will be asked to enact will add up to a freedom-of-choice plan as successor to the now-defunct massive resistance program which collapsed in state and federal courts.

The phrase "freedom of choice," said a source close to Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., was chosen because the plan may be for a community or an individual choice between state-aided private schooling or integrated public schooling.

A 10-member legislative commission has kept its deliberations secret. The Assembly meeting is a resumption of the special session of January 28 called after the court invalidated laws which had held the school segregation line since the Supreme Court's 1954 decision on the subject.

Legislators enacted two major tuition grants of up to $250 for pupils who refused to attend integrated schools, and repeal of the compulsory school attendance law. The Assembly then recessed and Almond named the commission to draft a new school program.

Rights Violated, High Court Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled the constitutional protection against double jeopardy was not violated by federal prosecution of two men on charges of criminal conspiracy after they had pleaded guilty to similar charges in an Illinois State Court.

Justice Brennan delivered the 6-3 decision. Justice Black wrote a dissenting opinion in which Chief Justice Warren and Justice Douglas joined.

Louis Joseph Abbate and Michael Louis Falcone pleaded guilty in Cook County (Chicago) Criminal Court to charges of conspiring to blow up facilities belonging to two telephone companies. On Aug. 15, 1955 they were sentenced to 90 days each.

Later they were tried in U.S. District Court in Biloxi, Miss., for conspiracy to destroy telephone circuits operated or controlled by the United States. Convicted by a jury on June 22, 1956, Abbate got three years and $1,000 fine, and Falcone was sentenced to one year in prison.

The Spanish language is used by approximately 103 million people.

Remarks That Bachelors Get Tired of

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks bachelors get tired of hearing—or overhearing:

"When are you going to settle down, Harry?"

"He's so set in his ways, no woman could stand him now."

"Hypothetically speaking, I think big weddings are just a waste of money, don't you, Harry?"

"Poor thing. Someone ought to take him home and give him a good meal for a change."

"What does he do with all his money? After all he doesn't have anyone to spend it on."

"Harry, I know just the girl for you."

"It's funny, Harry, you're the only one of the old bunch, still single."

"Harry, I hate to bother you at four in the morning, but have you seen my husband?"

"Remember, Harry, if my wife calls, we were playing poker at your place last night."

"Son, when I was your age, mother and I had three children."

"It may be just a mother's intuition, son, but is she good enough for you?"

"Sure, Harry, you've got a nice apartment of your own, a sports car, a swell job, a different date every night, and you're your own boss—but what does it all add up to?"

"Sure, Harry, she's got three kids, but look at it this way—you'd have a ready-made family."

"I'm glad you like the dress, Harry. I made it myself. I just love to cook and sew."

"Hypothetically speaking, don't you think a girl ought to give up her job when she gets married?"

"Don't invite anyone for Harry. I'll help the party to have an extra man around."

"Hypothetically speaking, I think two people can live as cheaply as one if they really love each other, don't you, Harry?"

"Harry, where do you hide during Leap Year?"

"Hypothetically speaking, what qualities do you think a fellow looks for in a wife, Harry?"

Laster Election Trial Resumes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Testimony began today on disputed votes in last December's election in which Traffic Judge Robert W. Laster defeated Mrs. Charles W. Stephens for a place on the Little Rock School Board.

Laster beat Mrs. Stephens by 111 votes on the face of returns. She is contesting the outcome, contending that several hundred illegal votes were cast for her opponent.

At opening of today's hearing in Pulaski Circuit Court, Laster's attorney said at least 243 persons listed in the suit as having voted illegally actually had poll tax receipts.

Mrs. Stephens' attorney conceded that some of those questioned may have had receipts but he did not agree to the specific number cited by his opponent.

The hearing resumed today after having been recessed for two weeks to permit checking of poll tax receipts.

Nehru Visions

Lukhangwa told Nehru Tibet had declared itself independent on March 12. That was two days after crowds swarmed into the streets of Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, because of rumors that the 23-year-old Dalai Lama.

Lukhangwa said the independent declaration was signed by the Tibetan Cabinet after it tore up the 1951 treaty with Peiping giving the Red Chinese control of foreign and defense affairs.

Lukhangwa said he did not know whether the Dalai Lama had fixed his seal to the declaration.

He added that he hoped to have definite news of the whereabouts of the Dalai Lama in five or six weeks.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The trial of a suit challenging the election of Traffic Judge Robert W. Laster to the Little Rock School Board was scheduled to resume in Pulaski Circuit Court today.

A continuance of two weeks was granted at the last hearing to allow a check of the master poll tax book against names of about 500 alleged illegal votes listed in the suit.

Mrs. Charles W. Stephens, who lost to Laster last December by about 100 votes, filed the suit. She contends that if the alleged illegal votes were thrown out she would be the winner.

The only witness scheduled to be called was Deputy County Collector H.B. Vogler Sr. He was expected to testify about identities of holders of valid poll tax certificates as listed in the poll tax book.

Meekers-Hatch Wedding
Solemnized in Jackson, Miss.
A formal wedding ceremony of interest to many relatives and friends was solemnized Friday, March 20, in the chapel of the First Baptist Church of Jackson, Miss., when Miss Lucy Flowers Meekers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Garner Meekers Jr. of Jackson, became the bride of Mr. Leo Hatch of Hope, Ark. Dr. W. Douglas Hudgins, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiated.

The chapel was decorated with a rich background of banded Woodville fern and many cathedral candelabra and a dais holding slender white lilies in graduated heights.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Hazel Chisom, organist and Charles Bacon, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore lovely in an original wedding gown designed and created by her mother, of princess white, dulced satin and achen-con lace.

The tiny satin bodice was beautifully hand embroidered with lace sprinkled with seed pearls which traced the curved neckline and graduated in re-embroidered flowers to the waist. Her long fitted sleeves adorned with satin buttons and lace applique, formed soft lily points on each hand.

The bouffant satin skirt was highlighted with a decorative center back panel edged with pleated lace and with scattered lace motifs which swept into a lavish chapel train.

Her tiered fingertip veil of imported illusion drifted from a miniature crown of jeweled imported lace. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

She carried a prayer book showed with white velvet leaves and stephanals topped with a white orchid.

The maid of honor was Miss Pat McMurray, of Oxford, Mississippi and the bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Bickerstaff, also of Oxford, and Miss Naomi White, of Jonesboro, Ark. The brides attend were identical intermission length dresses of copen blue silk organza posed over matching tulle-fata fashioned with a flattering pleated neckline and a bouffant harem skirt.

The headresses wore taffeta bow clips overlaid with a misty circular maling veil. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow tulips. Short white gloves and satin pumps completed their attire.

For travel, the bride chose a smartly styled French blue imported silk suit with which she wore a becoming blue silk evening hat and navy accessories. Her corsage was a white carnation taken from the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Meekers, mother of the bride, was gownedin a pale lavender sheath of sky blue silk organza over tulle designed with a V'd Empire bodice underscored with a wide band accented with a rhinestone pin.

With her dress, she wore a hat of white flowers and blue velvet ribbon. A corsage of blue feathered carnations was pinned to her white satin bag. Blue satin pumps and white gloves completed her costume.

Jim Tom Atherton, Mount City, Ill. served the groom as best man. Ushers were Louis Griffin of Meridian, Miss., Larry Wagster of Madison, Mo., and Jack Waters of Madison, Ind.

After the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the church parlor, which was decorated with arrangements of white stock and chrysanthemums and featured the three tiered wedding cake and white lilies in silver candelabra.

Leftist Mexican Strike Is Smashed

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Arrests of leftist labor leaders appeared today to have smashed a potentially paralyzing Mexican rail strike. A wildcat strike hit the 1,000-mile rail system Sunday. Service was being restored gradually after the arrests.

Survivors of the fire escaped by kicking out heavy window screens. The dormitory was locked and the guard was on duty.

The Claims Commission is scheduled to meet tomorrow and may discuss policy in regard to hearing of the fire suits.

Boston Having Troubles With Outfielders

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A knotty lump arose in the throat of Boston Manager Mike Higgins today as he thumbed through the medical reports on his designated outfield corps.

Higgins faces the prospect of opening the season without the big bat of Ted Williams, who has entered a hospital for treatment of a neck ailment.

Another outfielder, Gene Stephens, is sidelined with a badly strained thumb. Jackie Jensen, the American League's MVP, has missing valuable time due to a tooth infection.

Monday, 22-year-old Gary Geller, hitting sensation of the Sox camp, suffered painful bruises on his neck and right leg in a collision with teammate Don Buddin. Geller, knocked unconscious for 20 minutes, will be sidelined for several days at least. The Red Sox won the game, defeating Cleveland 6-1.

While Higgins pondered his misfortune, a knowing smile crossed the face of Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney as he checked the reaction to his charges of complacency among the National League club. Pittsburgh topped Baltimore 11-7. Eravos' lead on his Monday and broke a three-game losing streak with a 2-2 thumping of St. Louis.

In other games, New York defeated Cincinnati 4-0. Chicago's Cubs clubbed San Francisco 0-8. Philadelphia subdued Washington 2-1. Pittsburgh topped Baltimore 11-7. Eravos' lead on his Monday and broke a three-game losing streak with a 2-2 thumping of St. Louis.

Sammy White's single in the ninth drove home Dick Gernert, who had doubled, with the winning run for the Red Sox.

Hank Aaron's three-run homer paced the Milwaukee attack which also included four hits by Del Rice, Carl Willey and Bob Rush six-hit the Redbirds.

Veterans Bobby Shantz and Virgil Trucks combined for the Yankees' third shut out triumph of the exhibition season. Don Newcombe pitched four-hit ball for the Reds but took the loss.

Dale Long broke out of a slump with two home runs as the Cubs and Giants shared eight blasts apiece. Bob Speake's homer for San Francisco was his first hit.

"I've learned from experience," Bill said from a hospital bed. "A self-employed person should be sure to add a Weekly Income feature to his accident insurance."

Bill's car had been "rear-ended" and he suffered several injuries, including a "whiplash" injury to his neck.

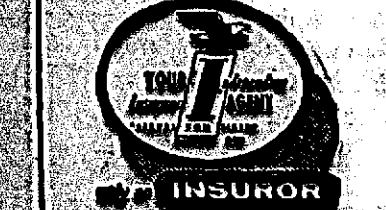

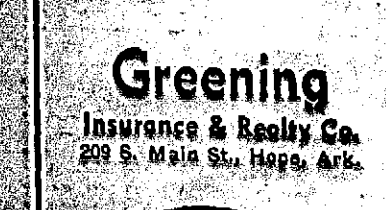

"Before I moved to Arkansas, he continued, 'I was involved in another car accident. After a month in the hospital, I sued for damages including loss of earnings. But it was impossible for me to prove how much earnings I had lost, since my income fluctuates widely from month to month. As a result, I didn't get one cent except my actual medical expenses.'"

Bill went on. "This time I have a Weekly Income from my accident insurance policy. That way I can afford to get well before I venture out again. The last time, I had to go back to work. As a result, I took months longer to recover. I was lumped along in low gear because I knew I had to."

of the spring. Cubs' catcher Sammy Taylor spent the night in a hospital after being struck on the head by the back of a bat.

Al Kaline broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh with a three-run double and drove in five runs all told against the Dodgers. The second game of the scheduled double header was rained out.

Carl Sawatski's two-run pinch single provided the impetus as the Phils, blanked on one-hit for five innings by Senator rookie Jack Kralick, erupted for six runs in the sixth.

Ron Kline picked up three RBIs and went the distance for the Pirates. Pittsburgh was out hit 4-8 but three Oriole errors made the difference.

Dick Donovan hurled six-hit ball for seven innings in his first strong performance of the spring for the White Sox. The A's Ned Garver was pounded for all the Chicago rallies.

That's how Williams described his trouble when he arrived by plane Sunday night from the Sox training camp at Scottsdale, Ariz.

The bulletin said symptomatic treatments were being continued. A hospital spokesman said the next bulletin would be issued Wednesday morning, unless there should be a noteworthy development.

The 40-year-old baseball veteran has been dogged by pain for two weeks.

Williams, defending American League batting champion whose club opens the regular campaign April 6 in New York, insisted there was no reason why he wouldn't be in the lineup at that time.

Later he admitted it might be much longer.

Money from a turnip?

Not exactly but it is about as hard to get money from thousands of "irresponsible" drivers on our highways who have no money or insurance to pay for injuries and damages they may cause you.

Let us explain our new coverage which enables you to collect for damages caused by these "turnips" and also "hit and run" drivers.

Pro Cagers to Seek College Basketball

CINCINNATI (AP) — The eight National Basketball Assn. members dipped into the ranks of college seniors today and each hoped to come up with another Bob Pettit, Bob Cousy, Bill Russell or Elgin Baylor.

The occasion was the annual player draft meeting which will give each club exclusive rights to bargain with probably 12 to 14 collegians who will be graduated this spring.

Whether they get their names on a contract is another matter and whether they'll make the grade in the tough NBA is still another. Seventeen of the rookies drafted last year made the grade, with Minneapolis' Lakers getting the prize in Baylor.

Several clubs, including the Philadelphia Warriors, were expected to exercise their territorial rights to players. Such clubs can claim a player from a school within a 50-mile radius but, by doing so, they relinquish their first choice in the regular draft.

Four years ago the Warriors claimed the fabulous Wilt Chamberlain out of high school under a draft rule which since has been abandoned. Now that Chamberlain's Kansas University class is graduating, Ed Gottlieb said they definitely would claim him.

Then it will be up to the Warriors to woo him away from the Harlem Globetrotters with whom he now is playing. Chamberlain gave up his last year of college eligibility to join the Globetrotters.

The Detroit Pistons and the St. Louis Hawks are among others who may exercise territorial rights. St. Louis has covetous eyes on Bob Ferry of St. Louis University and Detroit on John Green of Michigan State and M.C. Burton of Michigan.

After territorial choices, the Cincinnati Royals will have first choice since they had the poorest record during the past season. It appeared likely they'd pick either Bailey Howell of Mississippi State or Bob Boozer of Kansas State.

Most clubs had those players high on their lists.

Will Suggs make 14 feet, with only one year left?

"Yes," Bidwell says, "he's got an awful good chance of making it."

Collier, whose first love is football and who will also be participating in spring drill drills beginning April 13, redshirted a year and has two years of eligibility left after this one.

Bidwell says Suggs and Hughes' lack of height do not hamper them in vaulting. "They're quick as cats and conscientious, too," he said.

Hughes has high jumped 5'10" and broad jumped 22'4". Bidwell feels that all three vaulters will eventually break the standing school record of 13 feet. Hughes' 13' jump is a new freshman record but he won't be eligible to hang up a new school mark until he graduates to the varsity.

Bidwell sees the pole vault as his most promising event in next year's Southwest Conference meet. "I think Sugg will at least place this year," he said. "But next year we'll be ready for 'em with three good men."

The coach admits that lack of competition hampers Hughes, Suggs and Collier in their work. But he feels they've made up to it in teamwork. And the Porter coach says that pole vaulting is not an event that lends itself to teamwork.

"They work for one another and they encourage each other," he said.

Local personnel connected with the case have definite ideas about the time of Williams' recovery. It is a well-kept secret.

They don't say he will be ready April 10. They don't say he won't. "Ted appeared affable but worried when he entered the hospital. Since then, the clinical curtain has been drawn."

UA Vaulters to Improve SWC Chance

By WICK TEMPLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Pole vaulting can be one of the most homesome sports in the world, but for the University of Arkansas' Three Musketeers of the sawdust pit, it's a bloody-buddy operation.

Junior Alan Sugg of Helena, sophomore Jim Collier of Van Buren and freshman Jerry Hughes of Wilmont are working as a 3-man team to improve the Porkers' Southwest Conference chances in that event.

Coach Al Bidwell believes the result will be evident in the point totals of next year's Southwest Conference meet.

The strange thing about the off-beat vaulting fraternity is that two of its members — Sugg and Hughes — stand only 5 feet 7 inches tall. Collier, a football player, is a 6-2, 200-pounder.

Sugg is the holder of the school record of 13 feet. Hughes has already jumped 13'4" in a freshman meet. Collier, who Bidwell says is "just getting started," is vaulting 12'0".

"We don't know which of them will eventually be the best," Bidwell says. "But they all work for one another. When one of them makes a jump, the other two are standing there hoping he makes it."

All three are now vaulting over a foot higher than their best high school marks.

Bidwell says the trio works hours a day on the runways. When north Arkansas weather forbids outdoor work, they're in the field house.

"We have motion pictures of all the great pole vaulters," Bidwell says. "The three of them sit in a movie room and watch them over and over. Then they compare their styles."

The teamwork is paying off. Bidwell says Sugg has jumped 13 feet twice this year. "And any day now we're expecting him to hit 13-6," the coach adds.

Hughes, who last year set a new Class B high school state record of 12 feet, has jumped 13'4" and is working on 13'8".

"I think he'll be a 14-foot vaulter by the time he goes through," Bidwell says.

Will Sugg make 14 feet, with only one year left?

"Yes," Bidwell says, "he's got an awful good chance of making it."

Collier, whose first love is football and who will also be participating in spring drill drills beginning April 13, redshirted a year and has two years of eligibility left after this one.

New Experiment in Group Insurance

NEW YORK (AP) — Group Health Insurance Inc. is going to offer coverage for mental illness to 30,000 subscribers as an experiment.

The two-year experiment is being made with a $600,000 grant from the National Institute for Mental Health, according to an announcement Monday by Arthur H. Harkow, Jr., president of the nonprofit insurance agency.

Most health insurance programs do not provide insurance against the cost of treatment for mental illness.

The 30,000 subscribers, selected from Group Health's regular subscribers, will be covered for 30 days of hospital care for mental illness, and for psychiatric treatment of various types in doctors' offices.

U. S. Jury to Start Looking at Ballots

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A federal grand jury met here today to resume an inquiry into last year's election in which Rep. Dale A. Alford ousted Veteran Congressman Brooks Hays.

Probably the first order of business for the jury in its closed-door session will be to consider how to go about an examination of ballots which have been seized at its request.

The jury last week opened an investigation of possible federal law violations in the victory of Alford, who ran as a write-in candidate, over Hays, the Democratic nominee, in the November general election. Alford, a segregationist, criticized Hays' moderate racial stand.

Alford won by 1,200 votes in Arkansas' 5th District. Since then he has been indicted as a Democrat.

After hearing several witnesses, the grand jury, Judge J. J. Smith, asked U. S. District Judge J. Smith Henley to impound all ballots and related records in the six-county 5th District. Henley issued the order.

The grand jury inquiry followed an investigation by the FBI on two specific complaints to the Justice Department. One of these charged that in certain precincts more ballots were counted than there were persons registered to vote. The second alleged that anonymous campaign literature, prohibited by federal statutes, was circulated.

Ministers Open Talks on Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Three foreign ministers today opened a two-day strategy meeting they hope will move them three-fourths of the way toward the united front they need before negotiating with the Soviets.

They are expected to give quick approval to German proposals, already drafted by a team of allied working experts during the past month. In a second meeting this afternoon at the State Department they are to review the German outlook with West Germany's Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Jr. is substituting for the acting Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, who is to represent the United States.

Britain's Foreign Secretary, Selwyn Lloyd, a veteran of many diplomatic conferences, is to attend along with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, another newcomer to such meetings.

Leaving London Monday night, Lloyd pictured the meeting as an opportunity to "coordinate Allied policy." He said he anticipated discussing problems fully and frankly.

The results of the sessions are to be made known in the full-institution Atlantic Pact Council which begins a 10th anniversary meeting here Thursday. The Berlin crisis promises to be the main worry at this three-day conference.

The most important part of the strategy talks probably will come Wednesday when all four foreign policy chiefs consider how to reconcile their remaining differences.

Some British authorities are talking privately of negotiating an international status for West Berlin along with promises to curb the anti-Soviet tone of the West Berlin radio.

But American, French and West German authorities are cool to this idea. At the only basis for a combined Western approach appears to be Secretary Dulles' suggestion that the Allies allow East Germans to take over some Soviet responsibilities provided the Soviets openly acknowledge them as their "agents."

The Soviets have given no sign that such an offer would be satisfactory.

House Asked for Funds for Spa Hospital

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A House subcommittee will be asked to approve a million dollar appropriation to operate a proposed vocational rehabilitation center at the Army-Navy Hospital in Hot Springs it was disclosed yesterday.

Norrell (D-Ark.) had been asked to state Vocational Rehabilitation Services and he and Rep. W. P. Norrell (D-Ark.) had been asked to appear before the House Subcommittee on Appropriations April 18. They will appear for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and ask that the million dollars be added to the department's budget to run the proposed facility during the 1959-60 fiscal year.

If approval is given, the Department of the Interior, which owns the land occupied by the hospital, and the Army will be asked to turn the hospital over to the state.

Army Secretary Wilbur Bricker has told the subcommittee that the hospital is not needed or wanted by the Army and that closing it would be an economy measure.

A bill appropriating $200,000 in state money to help operate the rehabilitation center has been signed by Gov. Orval D. Faubus.

Japs Rule U. S. Is Violating Constitution

By NAT POLOWETZKY

TOKYO (AP) — A lower Japanese court ruled today that the presence of U.S. bases and troops in Japan is unconstitutional.

The decision, if upheld by higher courts, could wreck the U.S. defense setup in this strategic Far Eastern nation.

It also would bring into review all of the international commitments made by Japan since she regained independence in 1952.

The surprise verdict was made by the three-man Tokyo District Court in acquitting seven men indicted in 1957 after they broke into the U.S. Tachikawa Air Base outside Tokyo to protest its expansion.

The court, freeing them, said the presence of U.S. bases and personnel in Japan violated the famous "no-war" Article 9 of the Japanese constitution, which was largely written by the American occupation authorities after the war.

It also declared that Japanese citizens were discriminated against by special laws connected with the treaties giving the United States the right to station troops.

It was under one of these laws, the special criminal code, that the defendants were indicted.

The Japanese government has 14 days to appeal.

The American Embassy said any comment from it on the actions and decisions of a Japanese court would be improper.

Any appeal will be filed first in the Higher Court, and that tribunal's decision can be appealed in turn to the Supreme Court. Both the government and the defendants can appeal, and it might be years before a final decision is handed down.

Japan's constitution renounced war forever as a means of national policy. But Gen. Douglas MacArthur, while U.S. supreme commander in Japan, directed that the constitution would be interpreted to mean that Japan could have military forces provided they were for defense purposes.

Woman Charged in Shooting of Husband

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Preliminary hearing for Mrs. Paul J. Bell, 26, charged with second degree murder in the fatal shooting of her husband, was postponed today until Thursday in Municipal Court.

The hearing was deferred because Bell's funeral was set for today.

The 31-year-old Bell was shot last Thursday at a trailer park where the couple lived. He died several hours after being wounded. No motive was given for the shoot-

Court Invites Friends of Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today invited "friends of the court" briefs from any lawyer interested in a suit testing validity of a 1957 act to provide for use of state funds to help industrial development.

The measure would permit investment of as much as five million dollars of state money in bonds issued by private corporations.

A test suit to determine if any constitutional provision is violated by the act now is on appeal to the

Army Again Trying to Close Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the army is recommending the closing of Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

Secretary of the Army Wilbur Brucker told a House Appropriations Subcommittee, as he has for the past several years, that the "Army doesn't want or need the hospital and could save money by closing it."

A report of Brucker's remarks was made public today.

The army has sought to close the hospital for the past four years. Each time it has been thwarted by the Arkansas congressional delegation. For the past three years directions have been written into the army appropriation bill for operation of the hospital for another year.

This year a move is under way in Arkansas and in Washington to convert the hospital into a rehabilitation center, supported by the state and federal governments.

Brucker said the closing of the hospital would save $350,000 the first year and $50,000 yearly thereafter.

He said the daily average bed occupancy in the 1958 fiscal year was 60 beds, with an average of 41 for the first half of the 1959 fiscal year which started last July 1.

Johnson Sees Faubus for President

MEMPHIS (AP) — Associate Justice Jim Johnson of the Arkansas Supreme Court yesterday poses Gov. Orval E. Faubus as a possible presidential candidate in 1960.

Johnson, of Crossett, said that with popular encouragement Faubus would enter presidential primaries in the northeastern states where "those people could show their true feelings for states rights."

The governor could not be reached for comment at Little Rock. Johnson, who at 53 is the youngest associate justice of the high court, gave his views in answer to questions of a youth panel on a local television show.

He said Faubus would prove through the primaries that "he can win outside the South." Once this is done the governor can go to the Democratic convention "with the backing of the Solid South, the border states and any other states he captures in the primaries."

Johnson contended should this fail to materialize, the jurist added, and if Faubus is re-elected, the Democratic Party over States Rights, a third party

Supreme Court.

Interested lawyers were asked to file their briefs not later than April 15.

Highway Bill Turned Over to Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. M. A. West of Paragould returned the "kidnaped" highway bond bill to the Senate at noon today.

West took the bill for a special election on proposed issuance of $1 million dollars in construction bonds, with him to Paragould when the legislature ended on March 12.

He was linked because a companion bill which would have put a limit on expenditures for highway maintenance and given a priority on new construction funds to secondary roads had not passed.

West sponsored both bills.

Finally the Senate last week sent a certified copy of the bond bill to the office of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who has until April 4 to act on stillpending legislation.

The copy since has been reported missing.

Mack today returned the original to E. H. McAnally, assistant secretary of the Senate.

McAnally said West told him that "I'll trade you this for a receipt."

McAnally said he would ask Lt. Gov. Nathan Cotton, who is president of the Senate, what to do with the bill.

Taubus has not said whether he will sign the highway bond proposal.

The presentation was set at Carswell Air Force Base, Texas, where Thrash was taken for treatment of a back injury suffered when he parachuted from the craft along with four other crewmen.

All survived and at first all were believed to have escaped with superficial injuries. It developed, however, that Thrash suffered a back injury, which will require that he kept in a cast and later in a brace for a time.

The citation says in part that Thrash "demonstrated outstanding professionalism during an inflight explosion and fire which resulted in uncontrolled flight conditions. The self-control demonstrated by Capt. Thrash and his calm and accurate analysis of the situation permitted the unusual achievement of five crew members to survive this emergency."

Patricia Henry made his "Give me liberty, or give me death" speech before the Virginia Convention of Delegates on March 28, 1775.

Kree's expression was faintly contemptuous. Then he turned to Lawrence Quincy. "You are responsible for the quality of the company's product?"

"Yes." The one word was barely audible.

"Did you have attempted to locate the fault that is causing the trouble?"

"Yes, yes. I've done my best. I can't." Quincy stopped.

KILLER AMONG US

Vosky told his story. When he was finished, Kree questioned the guard. Kree turned to Mike Bradon. The foreman stated that on Tuesday night Stagg had asked him to get some chewing tobacco for him, but that Stagg had never returned to get it.

The hearing went on. Kree knew his business. He was a professional. He questioned them one at a time, carefully and politely. Dorothy Dohovan and Lawrence Quincy stated that they had not learned about the skeleton until they arrived at the office that morning. Philip Varney had not known until Chief Kree had told him upon his arrival with Ginny Masters. He spoke stiffly, no doubt aware of Logan Masters' gaze upon him from the rear.

John Simmons spoke harshly and he knew nothing of Jacob Stagg or his bones.

"I was in Toledo Tuesday night," Simmons stopped abruptly, his gaze swinging to me. He looked away, his lips compressed.

"I spoke for the first time," Mr. Simmons was not in Toledo on Tuesday night. "I talked to him on that night in the Maple Inn."

Simmons said in a strained voice, "But I wasn't out at the Buckeye plant."

Kree cut him off. "Did you give Mr. Bennett a sum of money, a bribe for which he was to betray the Buckeye company by not revealing the cause of the faulty wheels?"

Simmons looked at me, but got no comfort. He said in a low voice, "Yes, I admit that. But I meant no harm to anyone. If there was some technical fault with the Buckeye wheels I would naturally profit if the fault were not corrected."

"Mr. Simmons," Kree said, "I understand that a man was killed at the Portage plant by a Buckeye wheel. Have you considered that his death might have been an indirect result of your desire — your hope — that the fault would not be found?"

"I'm sorry about that. But it wasn't my fault."

"Did you pay, or attempt to pay, anyone else connected with Buckeye?"

"No."

Kree's expression was faintly contemptuous. Then he turned to Lawrence Quincy. "You are responsible for the quality of the company's product?"

quite a little speech you made, Jim."

"I was kind of sore at first, and then I caught on." Kree will take cigarette and drew on it. "You figure on setting a little trap?"

"Something like that. Well, see."

He said softly, "You packing a gun?"

"I packed the left side of my coat."

"Want to tell me what you have in mind?"

"This is my baby, Nate. Let me handle it." What was the matter with Quincy?

"It was all over town the first thing this morning. His wife skipped last night with that whole grocery salesman. The boys were in the station across the street from Quincy's place saw it all. Quincy left and in a little while the salesman drives up and she came out, carrying bags. He put on his car and they drove off, laughing. The boys at the gas station blabbed it all over. I knew what was wrong with Quincy. On top of this trouble, I guess I'd bawl too."
